Description:

Why is this contract needed?

A key component of the District's Pre-K programming is encouraging positive parenting practices that promote safety, well-being, and permanency for children and families. The District employs staff to support families of enrolled children with a variety of health and social services needs. In addition to these supports, the federal Head Start performance standards require all programs to provide evidence-based parenting education to families who are interested in a more structured set of coursework around positive parenting techniques. This contract will enable the District's federal Head Start Pre-K program to be compliant with federal Head Start Program Performance Standards under 45 CFR 1302.51, which stipulates that parents have the opportunity “to participate in a research-based parenting curriculum that builds on parents’ knowledge and offers parents the opportunity to practice parenting skills to promote children’s learning and development.”

How will the success of this contract be measured?

The District will collect attendance reports for each session and conduct surveys to measure parent preparation to care for their child, improved relationships. In addition, the District will conduct pre and post surveys to collect participation data.

When applicable, is this an evidence-based strategy? If so, what evidence exists to support this approach?

This action item seeks authorization for the District to contract with a local nonprofit, Jewish Family and Children's Service of Greater Philadelphia, that already has facilitators trained to deliver the Incredible Years® parenting education series of courses. Incredible Years is an evidence-based program backed by 30 years of research (see, for example, A Parenting Intervention for Childhood Behavioral Problems: A Randomized Controlled Trial in Disadvantaged Community-Based Settings in Journal of Consulting and Clinical Psychology 2012, Vol. 80, No. 1; and A growth curve analysis of parent training outcomes, 2003 by Hartman, Stage, and Webster-Stratton, University of Washington, in Journal of Child Psychology and Psychiatry 44:3) that is included in the federal Head Start database of programs that meet all of the federal Head Start requirements.
